James Gordon Bennett and the North Pole.

National Associated Press to the Star. WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 .- In the Senate today the Vice President gave notice that he would not occupy the chair for several days, and asked the Senate to designate a President pro tempore.

Mr. Conkling presented a memorial from James Gordon Bennett, asking the aid of Congress in prosecuting discoveries towards the North Pole.

Mr. Conkling said Mr. Bennett had pur-chased the Pandora, and would man and sail her at his own expense; but in prose-cuting these discoveries he desired the ship should sail under the American flag. Referred to the Committe on Commerce.

The Life-saving Service.

National Associated Press to the Star.
Washington, Feb. 25.—One of the most important bills introduced during the past week, is Senator Sargent's bill to transfer the Life-saving Service from the Treasury to the Navy Department, to which it logically belongs. The bill provides for an entire reorganization of the Service, and places it on a seaman-like footing. A naval officer not below the rank of a commander nor above that of Captain, is to have charge of it, under the immediate direction of the Secretary of the Navy. A naval of-ficer below the rank of commander is to be displayed. Chairman R. A. Bartholomew assigned to each district, as an inspector. assigned to each district, as an inspector. The stations are to be kept open the year round, except when the Secretary of the Navy may deem it unnecessary.

The crews are to be experienced surfmen, preference being given to seamen who have served three years in the navy and have received honorable discharges and good conduct badges, continuous service certifi-cates to continue for men from the navy enlisting for this special service, and for those who have served in this special ser-vice when enlisting in the navy. This bill has attracted a great deal of attention, and receives the unqualified support of all those who desire to see this important and hu-mane service brought as near perfection as possible. The bill, it is thought, will be reported to the Senate and passed during the present week, and there is no good rea-son why it should not pass the House just as son why it should not pass the House just as promptly.

The only known opposition to the bill comes from those who have heretofore used the appointing power for a political purpose, and who would find it impossible to use that power when the service is transferred to the navy. The Navy Department has material ready at hand for the speedy recommendate ready at hand for the service. The navy late ready at hand for the service is transferred to the navy. Though this Government has received no Peace Conference at Baden-Baden, yet the propriety and policy of accepting such invitation, if extended, confinues to be discussed in the most favorable manner. Precedents are not wanting to sustain this favorable view; as, for instance, Washington did not heaitate to make an alliance with Krance against Great Britain; nor did with France against Great Britain; nor did Monroe, in 1822, when an agreement was tain that they will do so in a peaceable mannade with Great Britain through Mr. Richner. ard Rush to protect by war, if necessary, the Spanish American Republics from threatened destruction—this alliance being approved by Adams, Crawford, Calhoun approved by Adams, Crawford, Calhoun and Wirt, the most distinguished men of

Again in 1832 President Monroe announced that this country would, if neces-sary, ally itself with the South American Republics to guarantee their liberties against the assaults of the despotic Powers. In 1846 the Administration of President Polk, with the unanimous consent of the Senate, entered into an alliance with New Grenada to guarantee the neutrality of the Isthmus of Panama against all other na-tions; and in 1849 and '50 the Administration of Millard Fillmore, with the consent of the Senate, made a treaty with Great Britain to guarantee the neutrality of the Nicarauga route against all other Powers. NEW YORK, Feb. 25 .- The World's Washington special says: There is some doubt as to whether the President has made up his own mind as to what he will do with the bill remonetizing the silver dollar. A Pacific coast Senator is authority for the statement that if the President vetoes the bill it can not be passed over the veto in the Senate. It only takes two votes to change the two-thirds by which the bill passed the Senate, and these, it is claimed, can be obtained. Senator Windom, who reluctlantly voted for the bill, is disposed to sustain a veto, and another Western Senator is disposed to join him. At the Treasury Department this is regarded as such a faint hope that every preparation is being made to carry the law into effect and get some of the new dollars in circulation by March 31st.

In the Catholic Churches.

National Associated Press to the Star.

New York, Feb. 25.—All the Catholic Churches were unusually crowded at every service yesterday, and the altars in each were resplendent with lights and flowers. At High Mass special Te Deums were sung in honor of the new Pope, and in most of the churches he was alluded to in the sermon. At the Cathedral thousands of perons were unable to obtain admittance.

The room was decorated with national flags, and the displayed. Chairman R. A. Bartholomew stated that the object of the meeting was to enter protest against the proposed repeal of the Lien Laws, but resolutions offered by Louis Huck went much further. They declared that it was the opinion of the party that a State, and if necessary a National Labor Bureau should be formed, and that more protection should be given to the right of free speech. A standing army was denounced and a protest made against the existence of the National Guard and the existence of armories in any city. The resolutions were adopted with con-siderable applause and ordered to be sent to Washington, to Gov. Robinson and to both Houses of the Legislature. A short address was made in German, after which Isaac Bennett, who was an-nounced as belonging to the Workingmen's party, made a lengthy speech. He declared that both political parties were opposed to them, and if they wanted justice they must band together and make laws for them-selves. If it was decided to do this, they made public in this city came up before Justice Murray. On Saturday evening Alice Archer, a young colored girl, was arrested at the instance of Rev. Alfred Lou-trel, of 162 West Twenty-fifth street, who charged her with annoying and trying to extort money from him. The girl was extort money from him. The girl was taken to the Police Station. During the night she became very despondent, and at-tempted to commit suicide by hanging hertempted to commit suicide by hanging her-self to the door of the cell. She was dis-covered by the door-man just in time to save her life. The girl was taken to Court this morning, when, with great reluctance, she told the following story: "About two years ago I went to live with Mr. Loutrel as servant, and one night after I had been there about a month he took me out of my bed and carried me to his own. After that we lived together as his own. After that we lived together as man and wife. We continued to hold these relations toward each other until last week when without any reason Mr. Loutrel made me leave the house. I tried to get my pay, but was directed to a lawyer named Clark, who, after compelling me to sign a paper and receipt for all claims against Mr. and receipt for all claims against Mr. Lou-trel, gave me $5. Believing that I had been cheated by the lawyer I went to see Mr. Loutrel about the matter and he had mear-rested." The girl wept bitterly while tell-ing the story. Rev. Mr. Loutrel, who is a tall, clerical, white-haired man about sixty years of age, was then questioned by Jus-tice Murry. He said that he was a regular ordained minister of the Gospel, but was a stitution the President has the right to send | present teaching languages in private fami-

He refused to say in what families he was teaching, and dein what families he was teaching, and de-clined to talk about anything but the case before the Court. Justice Murry, who had now become very indignant, told Mr. Lou-trel that he was a monster and a pest, and that he deserved to be publicly whipped and thrown out of the community. He was very sorry that he had not the power to give him his deserts. The girl was dis-

Earle Putnam, who was brought there nearly three weeks ago as a strong, in-telligent, line-looking man, has been discov-ered to be a raving maniac. Imprisoned on what is considered a frivolous charge, thrown into a cell, descreed by friends and persecuted by his enemies, the reason of this unfortunate man has been dethroned far beyond recovery. On the 5th of the present month a stock-broker, Wm. F. O. ground that Putnam had slandered him.

Fay laid his grievances before Justice Donohue, of the Supreme Court, and was granted an order of arrest. Putnam, the unfortunate prisoner, is only a wreck of what was once a fine looking man, of large stature, clear cut features, massive forehead, and eyes of piercing brilliancy. He strikes beholders as having once been a man of great power, both mentally and physically. He has hair and eyes of inky blackness, and is about thirty-two years old. Application is made for his removal to the insane asylum.

Tormenting a Savage Hyena,

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 .- A savage hyena, kept heavily chained in one of the cages of Central Park menagerie, became enraged by the conduct of one of the visitors yesterday afternoon, who persisted in tormenting it. It managed to break its chain and began a furious onslaught on the bars of its cage, which it bent. The visitors made a hasty exit from the building, believing that the animal would become free. The keeper, assisted by the Park police and several other keepers, after nearly an hour's work, placed another chain around the animal's neck and again fastened it to its cage.

The Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday contained an article illustrated with the picture of a porcupine and reciting that, at the burgiary of Dr. McCarthy's office on last Christmas, when the Dickey-Titus papers were stolen, a little silver porcupine was also taken. The article then went on to give an interview with Dr. McCarthy, in which the latter stated that on Wednesday last, while at Buchwalter & Campbell's of fice he found his porcupine on Campbell's table and claimed it. Yesterday morning Mr. Campbell re-ceived several notes from some of los friends, in which they proffered him their services in regard to giving testimony that they had seen the porcupine in his office over a year ago.

Mr. Campbell did not see the drift of this until he went out on the street and was

Up to noon to-day the suit had not yet been filed in the Court of Common Pleas, neither had Constable Beckman served his warrant of arrest upon Messrs. Halstead, Henderson and Dr. McCarthy. Against the latter, moreover, a warrant Against the latter, moreover, a warrant has been issued for the larceny of the "porcupine" from the office of Mr. Campbell.

The warrants for the arrest of all of the parties were given to Constable Becker this morning at 8 o'clock, but he delayed with the attempt of serving them until 11 o'clock, when he was stirred to the the transport you Markets. up to it by Attorney August Von Martels and Mr. George Campbell, brother of Hoa.

T. C. Campbell.

Dr. McCarthy was looked for, but it was announced that he had left the house at an early hour with Wm. H. Rowe, who has figured before in the Dickey-Tytus case.

It is not known where they are, and it was alleged that the Doctor had left work evening.

This however proved to be false, for after wandering around town and visiting the various haunts of Dr. McCarthy, the Constable and Lawyer Granger found him in the Court-house Building. He was at once put under arrest and taken to 'Squire Gilli-gan's office on Walnut street. gan's office on Walnut street.

On the way to that place the Doctor remarked that his children for years had played with that "porcupine," and had often enjoyed themselves with it. He said that it was his, and that he found it in Campbell's room on the day mentioned above. He then described in brief to our representative, who went from the Court-house to the 'Squire's office with him, the manner in which he found it at Campbell's office. After finding out with whom the doctor was talking, he remarked that it would be best for reporters to leave him alone to attend to his own business, and then he might beable to get along better then he might be able to get along better.

He insisted, however, that the "silver-plated porcupine" was his property.

On arriving at the 'Squire's office, 'Squire Gilligan allowed Dr. McCarthy to go to his residence in company of Constable Becker, in order, if possible, to procure bail. Mr. Murat Halstead was arrested shortly

Shortly after I o'clock the 'Squire made his appearance.

Mr. Sage inquired of the brother of Mr. Campbell (the latter being at Hamiltone whether he wanted a preliminary examination of the case. He asked that a day be set for the hearing.

Mr. Sage wanted to know whether they

(the Campbells) wanted to get in any more evidence than that which had been published in the Enquirer.

This question was sarcastically evaded by Mr. George Campbell.

Mr. Granger took up the case on part of Mr. Thos. C. Campbell.

Mr. Halstead, by his attorney, waived an The Aldines, one of the most popular dance examination.

There was no case against Mr. Ed. Headerson, as admitted by both the plaintiff and defendants. Dr. McCarthy, on his own part, also waived an examination.

The 'Squire fixed the bonds of Dr. Mc-Carthy and of Murat Halstead, Esq., at The bail above at to Dr. McCarthy, was for libel. This did not include the case of petit larceny.

Mr. Halstead then gave bail in the sum of $1,000, Mr. Hinkle, of Sage & Hinkle, go ing on his bond.

In the pelit larceny case against Dr. McCarthy, that gentleman, as in the formerly mentioned libels case, also waived an examination and gave bail in the
